The students are just a handful of the more than 665 UPS Scholars at private colleges and universities across the nation. These scholarships are funded annually by the UPS Educational Endowment Fund, which was established by the United Parcel Service at the Foundation for Independent Higher Education (FIHE) in Washington, D.C. FIHE administers the program in cooperation with its Florida partner, the Florida Independent College Fund (FICF).

The FICF is a not-for-profit foundation that assists in program and resource development for the Independent Colleges and Universities of Florida. Based in Tallahassee, the FICF is dedicated to providing financial assistance to students attending Florida's 28 independent colleges and universities. The FICF scholarship programs are funded by grants from corporate partners who are equally committed to providing the best educational alternatives for today's college students and tomorrow's leaders.
